
KENNETH C. ADKISSON, AIA

EDUCATION

University of Tennessee
Knoxville, Tennessee
Bachelors of Architecture with Honors, 1978

Middle Tennessee State University
Murfreesboro, Tennessee
Pre-Architectural / Business Administration

EXPERIENCE

Adkisson & Associates Architects, Inc.
Nashville, Tennessee
Position: President
Duties: General Company Management, Marketing, Contract Negotiations, Estimating, and Project Management

Taylor & Crabtree Architects
Nashville, Tennessee
Position: Project Manager/Project Architect
Duties: Project Management, Building Design, Drafting, and Specifications

J.E. Geiger and Associates
Knoxville, Tennessee
Position: Architectural Intern

PERSONAL HISTORY

Ken Adkisson is a native of Nashville who completed his architectural training at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. Upon completion of his studies in 1978, Ken returned to Nashville to begin his internship at the firm of Taylor & Crabtree Architects. During his time there, Mr. Adkisson worked closely with both principals and was involved in a wide variety of commercial, educational, religious, and residential commissions. Ken's responsibilities expanded from draftsman to project manager and new business development. During that time, he received state and national board certification through the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards and licensure in the State of Tennessee.

In January of 1983, he joined forces with Mark Harrison and Steve Rick to form Adkisson, Harrison and Rick Architects, Incorporated. With the departure of Mr. Rick in the summer of 1990, Adkisson/Harrison & Associates was incorporated. After many successful years, his company reincorporated in January of 2010 as Adkisson & Associates Architects. Throughout the past 27 years, Mr. Adkisson has held and continues to hold the title of President.